Government Of Rumania Faces Revision Move

Radical Revision Of King Carol's Government Now Appears Imminent

IRON GUARD LEADERS HIT CAROL'S ACTION

Pro-German Cabinet May Be Demanded For Control Of Rumania

By GEORGE BALINT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BUDAPEST, July 3.—Radical revision of the Rumanian government appeared imminent today following a joint meeting of the senate and chamber foreign committees in Bucharest.

The government reshuffle was predicted as King Carol held a long interview with Wilhelm Fabricius German minister to Bucharest following iron guard threats to topple him from his throne.

Advices received in Budapest said the Rumanian government is determined to use drastic measures against agitators lest they give cause for "intervention" by Rumania's neighbors— particularly Hungary and Bulgaria, which have territorial claims against Rumania.

To Be Pro-German

These reports stressed that Rumanian foreign policy from now on will be "absolutely Pro-German."

Carol was pictured as personal, active leader of the new Rumanian national party and director of its policies. Influence of the army was said to be growing.

Rumanian Premier George Tatarescu declared that Rumania would fulfill all obligations to the Soviet Union, to which Bessarabia and Northern Bukovina were ceded. But

Raids On Britain Being Increased

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 3.—A new toll of 12 Britons killed and 123 injured by German air raiders provided unmistakable evidence today that the aerial "Battle of Britain" is raging with increased ferocity.

German warplanes struck anew at Britain during the night, inflicting most of the damage and casualties along the northeastern coast. So great was the destruction of homes that public halls in a number of towns were taken over to shelter the homeless.

Shortly after noon, the air ministry announced that several enemy planes crossed the English south coast during the morning and dropped bombs at a number of points. British anti-aircraft defenses went into action.

Hunt For Victims

Gangs of firemen and air raid precaution workers aided by physicians searched through debris all night for additional victims.

An explosive bomb dropped by a lone Nazi raider wrecked houses on four streets in the workmen's district of one northeast coast town, killing ten persons and injuring many others.

Windows were blown from houses within a quarter-mile of the spot where the explosion occurred.

Officials said the Germans

Expect U. S. Envoys To Be Withdrawn From Nations Conquered By Germans

WASHINGTON, July 3.—While no official announcement has been made on the subject, it was learned today that the administration sees no other course than to yield to Germany's request that all American diplomatic missions be withdrawn from the conquered territories of Norway, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

Whether these envoys will be sent to join the exiled governments of these countries in London, or whether they will be recalled to the United States, has not yet been decided. It is considered most likely that they will return to this country, as the regular London embassy can keep in contact with the various governments now functioning in Great Britain.

Independence Hall At Philadelphia To Be Scene Of Fourth Ceremony

DUPLICATE SCENE OF 164 YEARS AGO

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—Just as it was after that first "Fourth of July", 164 years ago, the Declaration of Independence will be read again tomorrow from the steps of Philadelphia's Independence Hall to sound to America once more its message of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

On Very Spot

Principal event in the city's July 4th celebration, the reading of the historic document, will take place at the very spot at which it first was publicly proclaimed after coming from the pen of Thomas Jefferson in 1776.

The lyric, lucid English of the Declaration's immortal paragraphs will have for the United States a special significance in today's war-wracked world in which this nation must prepare for any eventualities, city authorities point out.

Charles H. Grakelow, city director of supplies and purchases, will speak at the Independence Hall ceremonies for Mayor Robert E. Lambertton. Many of those attending the solemn observation will be worshippers who earlier gathered for special services in old Pine street Presbyterian church, another nearby historical shrine.

Congress Plans Ten-Day Recess

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Democratic leaders of Congress today tentatively agreed to propose a 10-day recess, from July 11 to July 22, covering the period of the Democratic national convention, but saw little prospect for early adjournment.

Recoiling from Republican charges that President Roosevelt seeks to send Congress home so that he will have a free hand in foreign affairs, Democratic leaders declared that they now are opposed to early adjournment.

Mr. Roosevelt, it is understood, has informed party leaders that he has no objection to Congress remaining in continuous session, as long as a substantial precentage of the membership wishes to stay.

New Dealers To Favor Hull For Vice President

Boom Secretary Of State As Roosevelt's Third Term Running Mate

JUSTICE DOUGLAS ALSO SUGGESTED

President Continues Silence Concerning Attitude On Third Term

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull will be President Roosevelt's running mate against Wendell Willkie and Sen. Charles McNary if third term enthusiasts close to the White House have their way.

Responsible New Dealers let it be known today that a drive is getting under way to persuade Hull to accept the Democratic vice presidential nomination at the Chicago convention two weeks hence.

See Roosevelt As Candidate

This group predicates its activity on a conviction that President Roosevelt is going to gratify G. O. P. Candidate Willkie's desire to "meet the champ" in the November elections. They believe that Hull would be the strongest possible addition to the Democratic ticket if—as they are confident—Mr. Roosevelt consents to run for re-election.

So far as could be ascertained there was no assurance that Hull would agree to the nomination. The argument that will be used to prevail upon him to accept revolves around the unquestioned respect in which he is held by so-called conservatives of both Democratic and Republican parties. Straw votes indicate that, next to the president, the solemn Tennesseean is most popular among Democratic voters.

Douglas Suggested

Should Hull refuse ot go on the Democratic slate, it was believed the third termers would turn to Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the supreme court.

Douglas, just short of 42, has

Six Killed As Train Hits Auto

All Of Victims Killed Were Young People, Believed Speeding To Hospital

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 3.—Six young men and women, ranging in ages from 17 to 21, were killed instantly last midnight when the automobile in which all were riding was struck by a fast passenger train of the Soo line at a crossing near suburban Maywood.

The victims were Miss Lorraine Norris, 17; Miss Catherine Clark, 20; Miss Lorraine O'Leary, 19; Michael Frehe, 21, the driver; Joseph Santo, 19, and Jack Brennan, 19.

Witnesses told police the car swerved around a line of other autos stopped for the oncoming train and sped onto the tracks. Investigators said blinker lights and a warning bell were in operation.

According to statments given police by persons in a tavern the young people had just left, one of the girls, Miss O'Leary had complained of a severe pain in her side which she was afraid might be appendicitis. Officers theorized Frehe, the driver, may have been rushing Miss O'Leary to a hospital.

Willkie Is Welding His Campaign Cabinet; Gov. Stassen At Head

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 3.—Wendell L. Willkie welded a campaign cabinet today out of the support and opposition he encountered at Philadelphia, bringing together such strange bedfellows as Dewey and Taft campaigners, Willkie amateurs and Republican professionals who went out on the limb for him.

Heading his advisory committee was Gov. Harold Stasson of Minnesota, the ex-railroad man who made such a spectacular success of managing the Willkie nomination on the floor of the Republican convention.

Names Martin

Next he named Congressman Joe Martin of Massachusetts, chairman of the convention and acknowleged leader of the Republican house group.

Then he added Governor Raymond Baldwin of Connecticut, a first termer in the Nutmeg state who ousted the veteran Democratic Governor Wilbur Cross in a three way split with Socialist Jasper McLevy of Bridgeport. Baldwin cancelled his favorite son nomination at Philadelphia to second Willkie and bring him Connecticut's solid bloc of 16 votes on the first and subsequent ballots.

Turning to the opposition, Willkie named David S. Ingalls of Ohio who led the nomination fight for Senator Robert A. Taft, and he named Ruth Hanna Simms, astute daughter of the late Mark Hanna and a supporter of New York's Thomas E. Dewey from the outset.

Rep. Charles Halleck, young congressman from Indiana who put Willkie in nomination went into the

Packard Will Build Motors For Britain

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 3. — The Packard Motor company of Detroit today agreed to build 6,000 Rolls Royce aircraft engines for the British government and 3,000 of the same motors for the United States—a contract that was spurned by Henry Ford.

Announcement of the agreement was made by William S. Knudsen, production member of the National Defense Council, who said that the agreement was still subject to approval by Packard's board of directors.

Knudsen started negotiations with the Packard company for construction of the British engine after Ford flatly refused to build any for Great Britain.

State Relief Rolls Are Decreasing

Business Shows Spurt In State

Defense Program Is Aid To Industry In Pennsylvania At Present

RELIEF FIGURES ARE PROMISING

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, July 3.—Business conditoins in Pennsylvania appear to be approaching those of 1937 when the state and the nation enjoyed the greatest prosperity known since the start of the depression, state relief officials today believe.

Paced by the war and the nation's defense program, Pennsylvania business may even pass 1937 in the next six months to ring up the best year of the past decade.

This does not mean necessarily that complete prosperity is returning to Pennsylvania, for as in 1937 hundreds of thousands of persons able to work still seek employment. But for other thousands of the idle it does mean that prosperity has finally turned the corner.

Conditions Improved

The picture of improved business conditions in Pennsylvania is vividly mirrowed in the relief indices of the state which economists say bear a very close inverse relation to business indices. As business improves the number of employable persons on WPA and state relief declines; inversely, as it falls off the number on state and federal relief increases in proportion. Business indices are usually two months behind.

Relief statistics show that last month was the best June Pennsylvania has had since relief was organized in 1932. Furthermore, the number of persons on federal-state relief who seek private employment has now dropped to an all-time low.

The all-time low for the number of persons on WPA and the state's general assistance rolls was reached in October 1937 when 1,032,000 persons—made up of persons seeking employment and their dependents—were receiving some form of relief.

Relief Figures

Today this combined relief figure has reached 1,010,000 persons, 22,000 persons under the previous low, three months ahead of 1937.

Somewhat offsetting this gain, however, is the disclosure by the State Department of Public Assistance that more unemployed persons are now "on their own' than in 1937. These must also be taken into account when computing the number of unemployed and able-bodied workers in the state.

Nevertheless, the business improvement of the past few months has been sufficient to return to private employment numerous workers formerly on state relief. Since March approximately 120,000 persons have left the state relief rolls, reducing those receiving state general assistance from 612,000 to 492,000 in three and one-half months. In the past year between 400,000 and 500,000 additional workers have been employed by Pennsylvania industry, the State Department of Commerce reveals.

Not all of those who left the state relief rolls went back to private employment, but generally speaking for each taken on by WPA another went from the federal work relief rolls to private industry.

All in all, state relief officials think the state may be headed for its best year since before the depression.

campaign cabinet and so did Governor Ralph Carr of Colorado who was out for Willkie ahead of his delegation and bravely seconded his nomination.

Old Newspaper Editor

Carr is an old newspaper editor who developed an interest in water rights and has battled the New Deal on the state's rights questions involved in water rights as Willkie has fought the power question.

Wilkie added Paul Krusi of Tennesse Andoren Root, Jr., the young New York lawyer who touched off the Willkie campaign in Manhattan before he ever had met his hero.

Another woman, Ruth Young Kohler who married into the Kohler plumbing family of Wisconsin, also went into the campaign cabinet. She is a former Chicago newspaper writer.

Formal appointments were those of Rep. William Ditter of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House campaign committe and Senator John Townsend of Delaware, chairman of the Senate campaign committee.

The cabinet is Willkie's solution until he finds the campaign manager he seeks—a man who is manysided enough to coordinate the work of the Republican National committe with that of the Willkie volunteer groups.

Willkie has not forgotten that it was the plain people who won him the nomination and his plans center around coordinating the work of millions of volunteers with that of the party machinery. He has made it plain that he will never consent to subordinating the volunteer support to the political.

Today he was still fixing up his personal affairs preparatory to surrendering his post as president of Commonwealth and Southern Corporation which he has already resigned.

Friday he will meet with the subcommittee of the National Republican committee which has been delegated to name a national chairman. The belief now is that he may go along on John D. M. Hamilton with the understanding that Stassen and the advisory committee will handle the campaign with Hamilton representing the national committee and some prominent and early volunteer, such as Russell Davenport representing the amateur group.

Later it was announced that British planes shot down a German bomber off the east coast of England early in the morning.

The latest German aerial blow was delivered less than 24 hours after British planes raided the German naval base at Kiel. The 26,000-ton German battleship Scharnhorst, undergoing repairs in a floating dock, was stated to have been severely damaged by bombs which caused numerous fires at the German base, transforming it into an inferno.

NAVY AWARDS CONTRACTS FOR FIVE WARSHIPS

the huge construction program among private business. The navy is building some of the boats in government ship yards.

To Build 160 More

Congress, meanwhile, is still considering additional legislation authorizing construction of another 160 warships.

A $1,000,000,000 program for industrial plant expansion may be made part of the army's projected national defense plans, informed officials reported today.

A survey of the War department's needs for aircraft, tanks, and other armaments showed that at least this much money must be expended by the government in the near future to insure the steady flow of this material.

It is likely that a large part of this industrial plant expansion will take place in the Middle West, in accordance with the desire of the government to locate defense industries in the interior, where they would be safer from possible enemy attack.

President Roosevelt has before him a program calling for between $4,000,000,000 and $5,000,000,000 for the War department. This plan, prepared by the army and the national defense commission, may be submitted to congress this week.

Cuts Request

The army, it is learned, urged the president to request another $7,000,000,000 but Mr. Roosevelt is reported to have ordered this amount slashed to about $5,000,000,000. Congress may be asked to provide only about $2,500,000,000 immediately at the same time authorizing the army to make commitments for future defense expenditures amounting to an additional $2,500,000,000.

Meanwhile, the president signed legislation giving the government strict control over the export of war materials The president also issued a proclamation which subjected nearly 50 products to export licenses.

Under the legislation, the president could place an embargo on a wide variety of materials necessary to the national defense. No immediate halting of exports, however, is contemplated.

Among the products now subject to export license are rubber, tin, silk, aluminum, machine tools and certain chemicals.

GOVERNMENT OF RUMANIA FACES REVISION MOVE

he declared that his government still considers these ceded territories as Rumanian.

Iron guard leaders blamed Carol for loss of Bessarabia and northern Burkovina to Russia and charged that his policies now may lead to surrender of Transylvania to Hungary and Dobruja to Bulgaria.

Threatens Monarch

The iron guard organization which in recent years has assassinated two Rumanian premiers, threatened to dethrone the monarch and restore his son, 20 year old Crown Prince Michael, to rulership.

If their demands are not met the reports stated, iron guard leaders may set up a new party in vigorous opposition to the Rumanian government.

A statement is awaited from Rumanian Premier George Tatarescu today, and this may be followed by resignation of his government and formation of a pro-German cabinet.

Reports from Bucharest stated that Major Urdarianu, leader of the new Rumanian national party, may assume leadership of the government.

Attitude Of Germany Awaited

Interest in Bucharest remained concentrated on the attitude of Germany, which with Italy moved yesterday for peaceful settlement of all Balkan issues.

Although there were rumors of further Soviet demands, attempted coup d'etats and further communist risings, nothing concrete along these lines has happened so far.

But Rumanian police are taking no chances, and many Rumanian communists have been arrested. Another 10,000 of them left Rumanian territory for Bessarabia, ceded to Russia and now under control of Soviet troops.

Military forces patrolled the streets of Bucharest throughout the night and armored cars and tanks were held in readiness for any eventualities.

KNOX HEARING IN SECOND DAY

this country to permit the British and French fleets to use our harbors for repairs. Do you know anything about it?"

Knox answered:

"I never heard of it. I should think that we would have to intenre every British and French ship that comes to our ports."

Knox was questioned as he started his second day on the witness stand before the committee. Isolationist forces battling President Roosevelt's nomination of Republicans Knox and Stimson to the key national defense posts in his cabinet were trying to block senate committee approval of Knox as navy secretary.

Committee Approves Stimson

Opposition centered on Knox after the senate military affairs committee approved the nomination of Henry L. Stimson, of New York, to be secretary of war. Stimson already has served in two Republican cabinets—under Taft as war secretary and under Hoover as secretary of state.

The senate naval affairs committee continues its hearings on Knox, 1936 GOP vice presidential candidate, principally at the request of Sen. Holt (D) W. Va., a leader in the senate Isolationist bloc. Holt asked for further hearings after Knox spent several hours on the witness stand yesterday answering a barrage of questions on his foreign and national defense policy views.

As the committee neared a vote on Knox's nomination Holt announced that he will question the nominee on a newspaper interview in which he assertedly urged that American send troops to aid Great Britain and France.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

ONE hundred and sixty-four years ago, the Continental Congress adopted a declaration setting forth that body's reasons for having voted to renounce allegiance to the British Crown.

Congress had declared independence two days earlier—on July 2, 1776—by favorable action on Richard Henry Lee's motion to the effect that "these united colonies are and of right ought to be free and independent states, absolved from all allegiance to the British Crown"

So July 2 was really the one hundred and sixty-fourth birthday of independent America. July 4, however, is theanniversary of official proclamation of that independence to the world, in a document of deathless eloquence. Accordingly, for more than sixteen decades, Americans have been making speeches, shooting off fireworks and glorying in their freedom in diverse other ways on July 4, instead of on July 2.

That is as it should be. More than a simple motion, renouncing an old allegiance and affirming a new sovereignity, was required by what the author—or authors— of the Declaration of Independence called "a decent respect to the opinions of mankind." By virtue of the inspired pen of Thomas Jefferson, and the highly intelligent copy-reading of John Adams, that obligation to the opinions of mankind was met more than adequately. Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman and Robert Livingston served usefully as advisory editors.

But the Declaration is generally regarded—and probably justly so—as Jefferson's brain-child. He did the actual drafting, although Adams interlined occasional amendments with his own hand. Except for Adams' interlineations and the original text of Lee's resolution, picked up in the conclusion of the Declaration, the language was Jefferson's. And it was language which has echoed down the years.

When people think of the Declaration of Independence as a one-man job, however, they sometimes forget that Adams and Jefferson's three other colleagues performed an important duty of which there is no visible evidence in the final manuscript—namely, deletion of parts of Jefferson's original draft. Some passages were stricken out because they were regarded as purely rhetorical—for young Mr. Jefferson sometimes let his enthusiasm run away with his pen. Others were deleted for practical political reasons.

Thanks to Jefferson's masterly pen and his sources of inspiration (including Locke, the French philosophers and Thomas Paine) and to wise editing by Adams and the others, the Declaration finally adopted on July 4, 1776, was the finest piece of politico-philosophical propaganda in history. The word propaganda is used here in its higher sense. The Declaration of Independence was propaganda which really propagated—and it propagated human freedom throughout the world.

Glowing evidence of how well the authors of the Declaration did their work is the fact that, in this year of nineteen forty, when tyranny again rules a large part of the earth, the United States—home of liberty for one hundred and sixty-four years—is the second oldest nation in the world.

FUNNY MAN WITH THE CROSSED EYES

Ben Turpin, old-time motion picture actor now dead, won fame and reputed fortune by capitalizing a physical deformity. Movies goers of twenty to twenty-five years ago remember Turpin's crossed eyes as well as they remember the Keystone cops, John Bunny's pudgy face and Mary Pickford's curls.

It was characteristic of Turpin's art that he relied for his histronic effects chiefly upon his bizarre eyes. But he was one of the first slap-stick comedians in pictures and an all-around entertainer.

As a target for custard pies in that lush era he was a sure-fire laugh-getter. To such screen productions as "Hogan's Alley," " the College Hero,' "The Wife's Relations" and many others Turpin contributed his misplaced eyes in a manner regarded as very funny.

With the talkies came a change in the style of humor. It was what people said, as well as how they looked, that produced laughs. The Turpin epoch was ended and except for occasional appearances Ben lived in well-earned retirement for almost a decade. He will be remembered pleasantly by many persons—which is about all most men can hope for.

"I hate war as much as any American. But the need to be ready at all times for national defense must be clear to every one."

MILWAUKEE — National Legion Commander Raymond J. Kelly believes the teacher's first duty is to inculcate Americanism:

"Each American boy and girl must be honestly convinced that our form of government and what it represents most nearly approximates the ideal in providing the means for individual human happiness and well-being.'

NEW YORK — Mayor F. H. La Guardia warns against dangers in achieving Pan-American unity:

"In bringing about the unity of the Western Hemisphere we must take care that none of the mistakes of Europe are repeated on this side of the world."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SHAVE A CHIN; SAVE A HOME

A shave a day might keep divorce away. Protruding whiskers, like protruding petticoats, are hazardous to family happiness.

Whether a man will kiss his wife daily or not, he can't afford to be a porcupine. He should remember that she has too look at him occasionally, and if there are children they should be considered. A certain little girl of two told her father she didn't want to kiss him any more because of the "slivers on his face." That's an awful price to pay for laziness.

One good way for a man and wife to keep alive their mutual affection is for each to strive to exercise the nice amenities of their earlier sweetheart days. All too many married couples, after the glow of the honeymoon has dimmed, will let themselves lower to the level of the commonplace; and in this respect the man is probably worse than the woman. All of us husbands need constantly to discipline ourselves to exercise at home proper personal neatness and the social graces. If only we could hold ourselves strictly to good manners toward our loved ones.

Sprucer-Upper

When in any or all these matters we grow slovenly, we bespeak our laxity in regard for the other's personality, and this in turn renders us less tolerant of the other and more ready to be disagreeable.

Once I was an unexpected guest in a certain lovely home, arriving before the father did. Soon I heard footsteps in the kitchen, then on the back stairs. The mother explained that it was her husband. "You see, because of his work, his hands and clothes are soiled when he comes home, and he never wants me or the children to greet him until he has shaved, bathed, and put on fresh clothes."

Later he arrived looking tip-top, having prepared not for company but for the family; for he did not know a guest was present until I met him. The mother was attractively, but simply, attired too.

How fine if all fathers, even those from offices, were as eager to look well on meeting the family; and if mothers likewise always looked their best, if possible, to welcome the husband.

Cheap Enough

Soap and water are very cheap. Almost anyone can afford a daily bath, shower, shine, toothbrush exercise and fresh garments. Such essentials to human happiness need to be denied no one who really cares. The major investment is a little effort at self-discipline. I believe these matters count. Don't you?

Now it might be difficult for a wife to reform a husband who has grown slovenly. Her best way, however, is to express warmly affectionate approval when he does 'spruce up"—a good time for her to exercise her feminine charms on him. Looking forward, she might be able to bring up her son to exercise great self-discipline in these matters.

I still have some copies of a selected list of books on marriage, education for marriage, and how to make a go of it—to be had by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it. In like manner you may receive a list of books on vocations, choice of them and preparation.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Would you spank a young child for climbing up in a high chair at the table?

A. No. While spanking might easily correct this problem, the danger is that pain might connect up with eating and, therefore, cause new problems. Better rule out spanking from eating and toilet problems. Buy or make a strong harness to hold the child in the high chair.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

BE IT REMEMBERED.

It is altogether fitting that upon this day, the eve of Independence Day, that I should repeat here the Gettysburg Address of Abraham Lincoln, delivered at the Dedication of the Cemetery at Gettysburg, November 19, 1863. In speaking of that address, Robert G. Ingersoll said:—

"If you wish to know the difference between an orator and an elocutionist—between what is felt and what is said—between what the heart and brain can do together and what the brain can do alone—read Lincoln's wondrous speech at Gettysburg, and then the oration of Edward Everett. The speech of Lincoln will never be forgotten. It will live until languages are dead and lips are dust. The oration of Everett will never be read.

"The elocutionists believe in the virtue of voice, the sublimity of syntax, the majesty of long sentences, and the genius of gesture. The orator loves the real, the simple, the natural. He places the thought above all. He knows that the greatest ideas should be expressed in the shortest words—that the greatest statues need the least drapery."

Lincoln's Address is probably the greatest oration ever delivered in the English language. It is short; it is concise and will always remain a trumpet call to the citizens of the Republic. Here it is:

"Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a

THE FOURTH OF JULY

There's something about the 4th of July
That sets my pulses tingling
And I've got to be up with the rosy dawn
And out with the crowds a-mingling!

For who would miss the glorious bliss,
Still dear to the hearts of we olders.
Of little kiddies tooting horns,
Upon their daddies' shoulders.

And the laughter and singing and bells aringing,
And whistles blowing and shrilling.
And the bang and the boom of bursting crackers
And the rockets so swift and thrilling!

And the soldiers and music and big parade,
With silken banners waving;
And the ladies bright and sweet as flowers
Crowding the curbs and paving!

Oh, I love each kaleidiscopic moment
For the fun it has to offer,
And the friendliness of every one,
Of baker and banker and chauffeur!

There's something about the 4th of July
With its splendid spirit and story,
That I've got to be up with the rosy dawn
And out a-waving Old Glory.

HAPPIEST BIRTHDAY

Among a millions of birtdays occurring each year here and there, on the earth's face, there is one which is absolutely unique.

It is the Fourth of July.

Unlike the proverbial actress, the United States is proud to give its right age. The more than one hundred and fifty years of existence it can boast have all been passed as a democracy, under one type of government and one Constitution. Only the government of England can boast a longer existence. France Germany, Russia, Japan and the rest have changed their political structures so often that they seem like youngsters compared to us.

But the United States has enjoyed the liberty and justice that come only under democracy for over a century and a half now. Every additional birthday becomes a cause for greater rejoicing, for it helps to prove that freedom is the only enduring ideal in a changing world.

It is hard to realize that America has had so many birthdays. Democracy does not show its age. Today, when reactionary systems of all kinds are running wild over half the globe, this country of ours seems by contrast younger than ever for it has the vitality and strength that goes with youth.

And the Fourth of July—the most important birthday in the world—should be our reminder that democracy is the only way of life that ensures happy birthdays for all of us who live and enjoy our freedom under it.

Brides have always worn roses. In the old days the brides raised the roses in their own gardens. The brides don't raise their own roses any more.

The reason so many people blow their own horns is because nobody else will.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

Even if you have heard the same old story or gag repeated numerous times before, good taste demands that you spare the feelings of the raconteur by pretending that it is new to you—unless he be one of your own family or intimates.

I know one of those parlor humorists who always carries his little vest-pocket memo book of cues to supposedly clever tales. While anyone else in a crowd is giving vent to a yarn this boor is peeping into his gag-book and making ready to snatch the floor. Even when the joke just cracked is new and clever he invariably brands it "an old one" or spurns it with that old cliche, "I fell out of the cradle laughing at that."

My father used to tell me that during his youth such nuisances pinned to their waistcoats little gongs called "chestunt bells" that were fads in the novelty shops of those days and which wearers were supposed to ring whenever anyone related a "chestnut" or very stale anecdote. But in those days there were over-brash jokers—like my friend of the gag book—who rang their chestunt bells regardless of whether a gem of humor was tarnished or brand new. All of which goes to prove that each generation breeds the same pests although they annoy us with different inventions.

Readers' Questions Answered

Question: Do the bride and her attendants always have a rehearsal?—J. N.

Answer: It is supposed to be bad luck for the bride to take part in her wedding rehearsal, so usually she goes to the church to direct it. One of her friends—anyone she chooses—acts as a substitute for her.

Question: I am invited to a shower and a wedding. Does that mean two presents? If so, when should the wedding present be given?—G. B.

Answer: Yes, it does mean both a shower present and a wedding present. The latter should be sent to the bride as soon as possible after receipt of the wedding invitation.

Hitler Near Break With Russia
Wants France's Sympathy Intact
Uncle Sam Also On Anxious Seat

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Uncle Sam is on the anxious seat, for obvious reasons, as to the possibilities of mischief-making by Herr Hitler in our hemisphere if he contemplates his clean-up in western Europe.

Our American attention has been so much concentrated on that aspect of the developing situation that signs of Russia worry over the rapid progress of the Nazi conquest pretty generally have been disregarded by Yankee observers. Our state department, however, doesn't entirely ignore them.

In fact, some of our foreign experts are of the opinion that Adolf is near the breaking point with Comrade Stalin; that outright friction between them is due in the near future. To be sure, nobody questions that the efficient Germans, left to themselves, could dispose of the internally disorganized Russians in short order. Still, the badly-led, poorly-trained Russians are extremely numerous and have unlimited natural resources, which the Nazis are very shy on. The conclusion is that the Fuehrer, with a rampant (even if partially licked) west on his hands, must be considerably embarrassed with millions of ugly Muscovites hammering at his back door—if it should come to that.

Communism Versus Nazi-ism

As everybody knows, Stalin's Communism and Hitler's Nazi-ism always were violently in conflict—each is as different from the other as both are from Democracy.

They hooked up together reciprocally 100 per cent selfishly.

Hitler's object was to keep Stalin from jumping on him from behind while the Nazis were occupied to the westward.

Stalin's notion manifestly was that Nazi-istic Hitler and Fascistical Mussolini were on the verge of getting into a long-drawn-out war with Democracy.

He calculated that this war would bleed both sides white.

At that juncture, with Nazis, Fascists and Democrats alike flat on their backs and gasping, it was his plan to hop in and Communize the whole world in next to no time.

The program didn't work out as per Josef Stalin's specifications.

The war, as between the Nazis (the Fascists being only a sideshow) and the democracies didn't prove to be long-drawn-out and exhausting—it was a German blitzkrieg.

Now it doesn't look so much as if Russia might Communize the rest of the world. It looks more as if Germany might Nazi-ize Russia.

Of course, this prospect infuriates Joe Stalin.

Suspicious All Along

True, Joe's been suspicious of Adolf all along.

He's tried to get what he considered Russia's share of Poland. He's made his grabs in Finland and the little Baltic countries. He's tried to head Germany off as far as he could, with a view to the Soviets' footholds in the Balkans (for instance, his seizure of Bessarabia and Bukovina) and in Baltic waters.

But Stalin is a total fizzle, in comparison with Adolf Hitler, as an international negotiator.

To be exact, Russia doesn't fully want to have France utterly Nazified or Fascistized—because France has a pretty strong Communistic sentiment. Stalin doesn't want that stamped out by German conquest.

As to the newspapers, the Swedish Aftonbladet says there is "nothing left but the shell of the Russo-German pact." A Swedish paper wouldn't say that if it didn't mean it.

"Now's the time," adds the Aftonbladet, "for grabbing, while the grabbing's good."

Says another Scandinavian journal:

"Much as some Americans anticipate Nazi aggression in the New World, with far better reason the Russians are anxious about what a Germany dominant in central and western Europe would mean to them."

THE RED CROSS

The children are hungry off yonder,
And orphaned and ragged and lost.
And the old people aimlessly wander
Like leaves of the autumn storm-tossed.
The soldiers lie wounded and bleeding
Off there at some grim barricade.
Now millions our pity are needing
And there's only the Red Cross to aid.

The refugees limp down the highways,
Driven out of their homes by the guns.
While pleasant are your ways and my ways
Their path into agony runs.
Behind them lies cruel disaster,
Before them new horrors are laid.
Want is piling up faster and faster
And there's only the Red Cross to aid.

Starvation and need most distressing
Are stalking each war-stricken land.
There are wounds which some one should be dressing,
But nowhere is linen at hand!
You would fly to such need could you view it,
You would answer the prayers as they're made,
But there's only one way you can do it,
For there's only the Red Cross to aid.

Mr. Dewey's Mistake

WASHINGTON, July 3

THERE were a good many curious things about the recent Republican Convention, but certainly not the least of these was the strange fact that the leading candidate in the race for the nomination—Thomas E. Dewey—was recognized as having no chance of success days before the balloting began.

IN both the popularity polls and the political primaries Mr. Dewey had forged far ahead of his rivals. He had nearly a hundred more votes on the first ballot than his nearest competitor—Senator Taft—and two hundred and fifty more than Mr. Willkie, the winner. Yet he was not really in the race. Almost before the convention met there was general agreement among politicians and observers that the convention would not nominate Mr. Dewey.

IT was perfectly well known that on the second ballot he would get fewer votes than on the first, fewer on the third than on the second, and that after that his whole delegate strength would crumble. Predictions to that effect were made by various writers. They turned out one hundred per cent correct. It is doubtful that there has ever been a candidate with so marked a lead over the field who faded so completely out of the picture before the final test. After the delegates got to Philadelphia the disintegration of Mr. Dewey's strength became too plain to mistake.

HE was surrounded by excellent and experienced politicians, entirely loyal to his cause. Personally, he pushed his campaign with energy and ability. But he never gained a delegate. He was not "killed off" by either Senator Taft or Mr. Willkie, but he was raided by both with great success simply because so many delegates pledged to Mr. Dewey were aware that he was not going to make the grade and the real choice was between the other two. Accordingly, individual delegates and whole delegations began to promise either the Taft or the Willkie managers that as soon as they had discharged their obligation to Mr. Dewey they would break away. And break away they did.

OF course, this would not have happened had the conviction been less strong that Mr. Dewey was out of it. But that conviction was both strong and general. Mr. Dewey was doomed before the convention opened. The interesting thing about this sensational sidetracking of the leading candidate is the reason for it. About that there is little room for argument. It is generally conceded that Mr. Dewey's chance for the nomination began to fade early in May when, without explanation or excuse, he changed his position on the international situation.

MUCH earlier than that he had made a speech in New York in which he expressed views that seemed in accord with those of Mr. Henry Stimson and not far from those of Mr. Roosevelt himself. That was at a time when the European war was in its inactive stage and the country seemed not to care very much about it, one way or the other. This was before the Wisconsin primaries and Mr. Dewey's visit to that State. To the surprise of many, in his first speech there he departed from the pro-Ally stand he had assumed in New York and veered strongly toward the isolation viewpoint that it was no business of ours who won the war—that our only concern was to stay out of it.

IMMEDIATELY Mr. Dewey came in for blistering criticism from many newspapers, particularly in the East, which had been more or less friendly disposed. But that was not the devastating thing. What really damaged him was that popular sentiment which his Winona speech seemed designed to meet changed with the intensification of the war. The public, which had seemed largely indifferent, suddenly and overwhelmingly became pro-Ally with the invasion of Holland, of Belgium and the reverses of England and France in Flanders.

IN brief, Mr. Dewey went in one direction to met what he was persuaded was the sentiment of the country, only to have the country turn on him after he had taken his position. He never recovered from the blow. After that his candidacy sagged and his popularity diminished. It is a matter of speculation as to what made him do it, but the general feeling is that pressure from two big and notoriously isolationist publishers who were supporting him was largely responsible. At any rate, it was a great mistake. He sank himself. The lesson seems to be that on really great public questions a man in politics has to be on one side or the other. He can't play both. He can't switch with safety—at least in the middle of the fight. A good many tried that with disastrous results when the question of prohibition was vibrant and paramount.

Lippmann says there is no profit in naming those responsible for our want of defenses. But if you keep on using the same guard, you'd better know which sentry sleeps.

Japanese Paper Charges U. S. And Britain To Make Secret Pact For Pacific

How Willkie Retains That "Hoosier Touch"

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of informative articles on the life of Wendell Willkie, the Hoosier who ran an active brain, a ready wit, and an engaging personality into the Republican nomination for the presidency.)

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 3—Every morning when Wendell Willkie started downtown to his office he murmured this little prayer:

"Dear God—keep me from being a stuffed shirt."

That was Wen's explanation when Miss Genevieve Brown, one of his oldest friends, asked him how he could retain the Hoosier touch while operating out of a public utility office in the Wall street sector of Manhattan.

Miss Brown has known Wen Willkie since the days he courted Edith Wilk. Like Willkie she calls Mrs. Willkie "Billy." The name comes from the Billikan dolls, popular around 1917-18—smiling little cherubs which were consistently outsmiled by young Miss Wilk of the Rushville public library.

Miss Brown taught school in Rushville, knew Billy Wilk well and later came to know Wendell Willkie.

When Wen first paid court to Billy, he had competition in an Indianapolis man already set up in business and with prospects of going places. Willkie was just starting in law and had neither business nor prospects to amount to anything.

But he had something the Indianapolis man lacked. He had his own particular brand of charm and personal magnetism and first of all it corraled Mary Sleeth, the senior librarian in Ellwood when Edith Wilk transferred there from Rushville.

Mary Sleeth sold Wen Willkie to Edith. Miss Brown says "Billy has told me that Mary lauded Wendell to the skies so often that she was in love with him almost before she was ready."

Mary also put over Wendell with Edith's family.

But there was the question of money. Wendell wanted to marry Edith before he started for France but he didn't see how it could be done. Uncle Sam came to the rescue. The goverment announced its $10,000 life insurance on every soldier and when the news reached Wen at Fort Knox where he was learning hay-foot, straw-foot, it gave him the courage to ask Edith to set a date.

"He figured that if anything happened to him, Edith would have the $10,000 and that would be something," Genevieve Brown says.

Miss Brown remembers when Frank Dailey, an Elwood lawyer and later candidate for governor, advised Wendell to join the Firestone legal department.

"He went home and asked Billy what she thought and Billy said 'it's your problem, Wendell—I'll go anywhere you want and do anything you want' so Wendell decided to take it.

"Wendell went to Akron for about $150 a month and they set up housekeeping in a little place and got along famously on what they had.

"Wendell is a hound for work, as you probably know, and pretty soon the youngest lawyer on the Firestone staff was doing so well that the older men were patting him on the back and telling him that he was going places.

"He hadn't been in the city more than a few months when he was invited to become the director of a bank and the best clubs were inviting him to join."

Miss Brown frequently visits the Willkies in New York and she says:

"It's just like it was back home. Wendell is very reluctant to say anything that might make our eyes bug out. You expect that a man who is as much a success as he is might brag a little but I have never heard him mention an important name or talk about his business as if he amounted to anything."

Mary Sleeth, who "sold" Willkie to Edith Wilk, now manages his farms in Rush county, Miss Brown says.

"He's got about five farms of 1400 acres and he raises hawgs," Miss Brown says. She insists on that "hawg" pronunciation too. Easterners call 'em hogs and make her uncomfortable.

Canada Makes Speedy Progress In Air Training

(International News Service)

OTTAWA, July 3—Britain's huge proposed two year empire air training scheme is to be completed within one year, Munitions and Supply Minister Howe indicated here today.

Howe said the achievement was due to the ready response of the Canadian aircraft industry to the emergency. "The Dominion government will be able to complete both the Canadian programme and the whole joint air training programme on the basis of the Dominion's own resources, and without assistance from overseas," the minister indicated.

A new company is being established at Montreal to co-ordinate the output and expedite the production of the complete Anson airplanes needed in the program.

Urges Changes In State Street Hill

G. N. C. A. Suggests Elimination Of Three Hazards On Much-Travelled Route

Greater New Castle association through Executive Vice President A. H. Andrews today by communication to council urged the city to eliminate three hazardous points on the State street hill. The association expressed the opinion the hazards may be eliminated at no large expense to the city.

Director of improvements W. H. Dunlap replied to the letter, stating that plans for the changes have been completed for some time. However, he opined that the proposed job may prove expensive to the city.

There are several curves which reportedly make motor vehicular traffic hazardous down the hill. To eliminate the curves it will be necessary to cut back the hill and it was stated this may involve securing ground.

Council decided to go into a huddle and discuss the proposed improvement and make a decision as to whether or not the asserted hazards will be eliminated.

Daylight Raids Made On Britain By Nazi Planes

Germany hurled more of her powerful air armada at Great Britain today in a new series of daring daylight raids over a widespread area.

As Britain counted a death toll of at least 12 and an injured list of 123 as a result of night attacks, British figher planes and anti-aircraft batteries met the raiders with deadly defense.

One Nazi plane appeared over a city in southeastern England early this evening, only a short time after a German bomber dropped high explosives on a large building in another part of southeast England.

New Taxes Make Huge Demand For Pennies

PHILADELPHIA, July 3—The national defense tax has taxed the United States mint here to the limit—it's out of pennies.

Superintendent Edwin H. Dressel said today that "we've shipped out millions of 'em and if the demand keeps up, we'll have to throw all our resources on pennies, 24 hours a day."

The nex tax, effective July 1, added to the purchase price of about 40 items and most of the increases were from one to a few cents.

Banks throughout the nation anticipated the need and stocked up.

On June 24, the mint here had 384,130,000 pennies on hand. Today Dressel said about the only one-cent coins still around were in the pockets of employes.

"They've (the taxes—not the employees) taken everything we had in stock," he declared, "and the orders are piling up all the time."

The mint has a penny-capacity of 1,400,000 for an eight-hour shift, which means that soon it will be turning out more than 4,200,000 coppers a day when the three shifts are started.

"And this probably will have to be kept up until the demand levels off" Dressel added.

Both the Denver and San Francisco mints also make pennies and officials here presumed they too were faced with the same problem.

Americans In Shanghai Concession Ask U. S. To Send More Marines

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 3—Japanese troops entered French Indo-China yesterday, occupying a southern town, according to a Moscow radio announcement, the London Daily Telegraph said today.

(Editor's Note: A Moscow radio broadcast picked up by NBC in New York said that Japanese troops advancing toward the border of French Indo-China occupied the city of Lungchow in the southwest part of Kwangsi province.

The Russian broadcaster credited "Japanese sources" for this information and explained Lunchow lies only a few miles from the French Indo-China frontier.)

The London Daily Herald reported from Shanghai that French authorities capitulated to Japanese demands for the right to search persons and premises within the French concession there and to arrest Chinese and hand them over to the Nanking (Japanese sponsored) government without trial.

This dispatch also reported that the French were surrendering control over Chinese courts in the concession.

Owing to the seriousness of the situation, said the Herald, Americans living in the concession cabled the state department in Washington urging immediate strengthening of United States Naval and marine forces to maintain the status quo.

President Will Ask Huge Fund For U.S. Defense

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 3.—A special message to congress asking for another huge sum for national defense was drafted at a White House conference today between President Roosevelt and his advisors in the preparedness campaign.

The message may be sent to congress later today, it was learned, and it will request authorizations estimated between $4,000,000,000 and $7,000,000,000.

These funds will be used to aid national defense manufacturers in plant expansion. Congressional action limits their profits on products essential to the preparedness campaign to 7 per cent.

At the conference were William Knudsen, head of production in the defense program, Harold Smith, budget director, acting secretary of war Louis Johnson and acting secretary of the navy Lewis Compton.

The war department announced that the government will make available to private manufacturers all reserve machinery and factory equipment that can be spread to increase production capacity.

Expect 15,000 At Cascade Park On July Fourth

Preparations Complete For Handling Large Number Of People, Autos

TRAFFIC OFFICERS TO ASSIST MOTORISTS

Officials of Cascade park today stated they are prepared to handle a large crowd at the local recreation center July 4 and believe that at least 15,000 will flock there Thursday.

The park manager, C. C. Coulthard, asserted there will be bathing, boating, and both the Dodge'em and Merry-go-round are ready to provide men and women with rides.

The various flower beds are in full bloom and according to the manager there has been no year in which the flowers of all kinds were more plentiful or beautiful.

Rainbow terrace has been made ready to provide enjoyment to those who like dancing and it is probable that thousands will avail themselves of an opportunity to step sprightly to the latest dance numbers.

There is a large place available for the parking of cars in the upper section of the park. A 10 cents fee is charge. However, there will be no fee for parking of bicycles near the office. Traffic officers will direct traffic into and from the park, officials reported.

One of the most recent improvements in the park is a fountain electrically illuminated. It is situated near the office or lower East Washington street entrance.

For family groups electric current and gas for cooking purposes is free. The facilities are located in the grove.

Following the expected big outpouring July 4, park officials expect another big crowd when Kiddies day will be celebrated Monday with reduced prices.

Maybe the Allies aren't fighting our war, but the little countries are doing our part. They are paying for it.

CARMELO-D'CARBO WEDDING IN OHIO

Mr. and Mrs. Michael DeCarbo, nee Miss Gladys Carmelo, a bride and groom of Monday, are on a two-week motor trip to New York and the eastern states.

The wedding ceremony took place in St. Patrick's church, Youngstown, O., Monday morning at 10 o'clock, with the Rev. Fr. Nicholas Biondi, a former classmate of the groom, celebrating at the nuptial high mass. Mrs. DeCarbo is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Carmelo, and Michael is the son of Mrs. Concetta DeCarbo of Maitland street, this city.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Nicholas Carmelo, chose a period gown of ivory faille taffeta, designed with a close-fitting bodice, a sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves and a full skirt made entrain. Her long veil of illusion was caught with a halo of orange blossoms and her bouquet of Killarney roses was showered with gypsophila. She wore a gold diamond set cross and chain, a gift from the bridegroom's mother, and a diamond after-dinner ring, presented to her by her aunt, Mrs. Carmelo.

The bridal party included Miss Mela Colla as maid of honor and Miss Lena Ficocelli and Miss Ann Sloan, classmates of the bride at Kent State university, as bridesmaids. Anthony Casbera, of this city was the best man and ushering were John Daverio of Sharon and Louis Catalano of this city. The maid of honor wore a period gown of poudre blue and white marquisette with a sweetheart neckline, three-quarter length sleeves and bouffant skirt. The gowns of the bridesmaids were "Scarlet O'Hara" models, of pink marquisette with short puffed sleeves and full circular skirts trimmed with rows of narrow black French lace. The attendants all wore floral coiffure arrangements and carried Briarcliff roses showered with gypsophila. They wore the bride's gifts, gold crosses and chains.

A congratulatory period was held later at the Carmelo home, which was decorated with flowers. "Open house," was observed in the evening.

The bride is a graduate of the Youngstown Rayen high school and attended Kent State university. Mr. DeCarbo, a graduate of the local high school, is in business with his brothers in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. DeCarbo will be "at home" to their many friends at 1212 South avenue, Youngstown, after July 15.

Fidler Reports Hart Gets New Film Role

News from Hollywood is that New Castle's own William "Bill' Hart—to the theater-going public he'll be known as "Robert Sterling"—is making good in a right nice way! He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Hart of Sylvan Heights golf course, and his host of local friends are watching his progress.

Of "Sterling", who'll shortly appear in "Manhattan Heartbreak", Columnist Jimmie Fidler has this to say today:

"When 20th Century assigned Robert Sterling to a grid star role in 'Yesterday's Heroes', he took stock of his physical condition, found it wanting, and started an intense but very pleasant training. The 'pleasure' lay in the fact that Sheila Ryan, comely contractee of the same studio, shared the exercise. For a week they swam, played tennis, rode horseback and golfed.

"Yesterday the partnership ended with a note from Sheila. 'I find,' she announced, 'that what's sauce for the gander is fat for the goose. I've gained seven pounds in seven days, and I must stop before I condition myself right out of pictures!"

final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

"But in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

YES, SIR—IT'S LIKE REAL Old-Fashioned BUTTERMILK, EVEN TO THE FLAKES OF GOLDEN BUTTER

Just the other day, one of our customers called up to compliment us on our new Country Style Buttermilk. He said: "I've driven miles out into the country to get buttermilk that's not a bit finer than the kind you deliver at my door every morning."

We'd like YOU to try this fine buttermilk that's Sealtest Supervised for purity and wholesomeness. It has the real old-fashioned "down-on-the-farm" flavor, and we are sure you'll be delighted with it. In fact, we are so sure that we make this MONEY BACK GUARANTEE:

Telephone for a trial quart—or order it from our milkman or your favorite food store. If you don't agree it's the most delicious buttermilk you've ever enjoyed, return the bottle and get your money back.

BABY'S SCREAMS MAY BE DUE TO TOO MUCH NOISE

CHICAGO.—Elimination of unnecessary noises about the home will reduce the so-called colic screams of a two-month old baby, is the opinion of Dr. Frank C. Neff, of Kansas City, Mo., writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Mothers can add to the comfort of babies by seeing that absolute quiet prevails in the home, thereby precluding the necessity of calling the family doctor at 3 a. m. in order to find out about the child's diet, Dr. Neff advises.

Doorbells, the radio and telephone, street noises, too much light, noisy visitors, singing, whistling and the talkative door-to-door salesmen are some of the features that cause the child to cry with seeming pain and it does not necessarily follow that he has colic.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NOSE BLEEDS

In a column on this subject a few weeks ago, I apparently didn't go far enough into the subject of how to relieve them, for I have had letters of inquiry concerning the best thing to do for this common occurrence in childhood.

The best home remedy I know of is for the victim to raise his arms above his head in a stretching motion and at the same time have something cold applied to the back of his neck. Either of these remedies by itself is usually enough to stop a mild nose bleed. Together, they work effectively in most cases.

The cold application may also be effective behind the ears. If you lack good cold water, or ice, a door key, or a similar piece of metal will often do the trick. The cold applied to the back of the neck or head causes a reflex contraction of the artery.

The raising of the arms above the head also tends to contract the blood vessels in the head and neck. This method may even cause the patient to have a feeling of faintness, but don't worry about that. It is quite natural.

Another home remedy that is frequently used I do not recommend. That is for the patient to lie on his back. Of course, that seems to stop the bleeding. I know it stops it as far as you can see for the blood doesn't gush out the nostrils any more. But that doesn't mean that it has stopped, for altogether likely the nose is still bleeding, and the blood is merely running back through the nose into the throat and down into the stomach. The only influence this method can have in stopping a nosebleed is that it acts as a sedative to the heart. It doesn't pump as fast.

If the methods I described above don't put a stop to the flow of blood after a few minutes, then you had better call a doctor. When he comes he may use various methods of stopping the flow, the most common treatment is the application of a mild solution of adrenalin. If all other measures fail, the nostril can be pluged on the inside and on the outside, so that any blood that flows into it, can't get out. As soon as the nostril fills, the pressure will stop the blood from flowing. Since nosebleed rarely occur in both nostrils at once, the breathing isn't interefered with.

Frequently, nosebleeds can be stopped by means of a mild purgative. Occasionally, the bleeding is a symptom of chlorosis or anemia, and other measures must be used. If the nose bleeds recur frequently, then by all means call in your doctor.

Chicago Mayor Sees Roosevelt Party Candidate

Says President Will Be Named For Third Term At Convention

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 3.—In a "convention forecast" Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago declared Tuesday, "There is not the slightest doubt" that President Roosevelt will be drafted for a third term at the National Democratic convention which opens July 15 in Chicago.

The mayor, who as an ardent New Dealer and Illinois Democratic chief is expected to wield considerable influence at the convention, said the president's renomination is so certain that the only matter under discussion among National Democratic leaders concerns the identity of the vice presidential candidate.

"There is not the slightest doubt about it. President Roosevelt will be drafted," the mayor asserted. "We Illinois Democrats are for him, of course, but I am basing my statement on conversations I have had with the Democratic leadership throughout the country.

"The president has told me and others that he is not a candidate. He has had eight hard years, and the next four will be harder. But the rank and file of the people want him, and we are going to draft him on the first ballot.

"Who will place Mr. Roosevelt in nomination has not been decided, but there are many capable men anxious to do it."

Regarding the vice presidency, the mayor said:

"Vice President Garner will not be renominated. He is out of it. There is strong support for Speaker Bankhead of Alabama and former governer Paul McNutt of Indiana. Also discussed are Illinois' own senator Lucas, Gov. Stark of Missouri, Senator Wheeler of Montana, Senator Byrne of North Carolina, Supreme Court Justice Douglas, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, and a few others."

Over 1300 Motor Patrolmen Watch State Highways

Safety Efforts Are Intensified

State Police Authorities Seek To Keep Down Traffic Toll Over Fourth

FIREWORKS LAW WILL BE ENFORCED

By JOHN PAGET
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, July 3.—More than 1,300 state motor policemen intensified their patrol on highways today as Pennsylvania's 2,500,000 motorists began Fourth of July holiday jaunts.

Commissioner Lynn G. Adams expressed concern over the rising holiday death toll and warned that all troopers were under strict orders to vigorously enforce motor laws.

"Unless Germany attempts to land an expeditionary force in England over the week-end," declared Adams, "there will be more people killed in the United States in automobile accidents than will be killed or injured there by bombs."

Casualties Of Past

He pointed out that last year 26 persons lost their lives in 830 accidents on the state's highways on July 4th.

At the same time, Adams discounted reports that shipments of fireworks from Ohio into Pennsylvania in violation of the state's anti-fireworks law had reached huge proportions.

"There are several scattered cases in the Pittsburgh area involving fireworks' shipments from outside the state," said Adams, "and they are being investigated. It is not widespread."

He said that no deaths from fireworks had been reported, and added that a reduction in the number of injuries was expected as the anti-firecracker law entered its second year.

Must Use Caution

In 1938, before the law was enacted by the legislature, eight persons were killed by fireworks and 1,702 injured as compared with 1939, when the law was effective, with only 85 accidents and no deaths were reported.

Reverting to highway warnings, Adams emphasized that motorists must use utmost caution over the four-day holiday because the roads will be jammed with traffic.

The careless motorist was reminded that in 1939 during the five big holidays expanded into 22 days by week-ends 170 persons were killed in automobile mishaps.

Adams was hopeful, however, that highway deaths would be reduced as police continued to arrest violators of the motor code—especially the 50-mile-an-hour law.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Quinine cannot be smelled.

But one part in two millions can be tasted.

Which is the more highly developed—nose or tongue?

This depends mostly on the substance involved.

The nose detects small particles in the air.

The tongue perceives material in solution.

Alcohol evaperates and may be smelled.

It is also soluble in water and may be tasted.

The amount detected by smell is minute.

It takes 24,000 times that to be tasted.

The nose and tongue both add to our zest for life.

Each, in its own degree, gives us interest.

The man who feels most abused and cheated is the one who decides to be virtuous and then has bad luck, anyway.

Big Circus Scheduled For Two Performances

Funmakers from all four corners of the globe will be seen in mirthful action when the great Cole Bros. Circus comes to New Castle for two performances starting at 2 and 8 p. m. on Tuesday, July 9. Clowns have always been the backbone of any circus. Otto Griebling, said by many to be really the funniest clown in circus business, today heads the list of "joeys" However, each clown, no matter how small his role, considers himself a star in his own right. Many of the funsters you see cavorting around the massive hippodrome track spent the long winter months designing and planning their grotesque makeup and costumes. Unlike other professions the clown must be 100 per cent sure that every particular skit will bring at least one loud guffaw from all who see it.

Over half a hundred of these funny fellows include in addition to Otto Griebling, Jimmy DeCobb, Shorty Edwards, Huffy Huffman, Freddie Freeman, Lee Smith, Grover Andrews, Harold Hall all top notch clowns.

Ken Maynard, well known western star and his celebrated horse, "Tarzan" will be seen in person at every performance. This year Ken will have with him a troupe of cowsboys, cowgirls, Indians and ropers, who have been in many of his pictures and their offering is most spectacular.

A gorgeous processional pageant entitled "La Habana" with a hundred beautiful dancing girls, special scenery and lighting effects will act as a prelude to the circus proper.

Arrangements have been made to open the doors to the big tent one hour ahead of the starting of the performance to allow visitors to inspect the huge double menagerie carried with the show this season.

Reserved seats and general admission tickets for both performances will be on sale show day at Love and Megown's drug store in addition to the wagons on the grounds at Cedar street.

Montgomery Sounds Defense Warning

Film Actor Who Served Ambulance Corps 17 Days At Front In Flanders Says "Prepare"

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, July 3—Back in Hollywood from France where he served as an ambulance driver for a month, Robert Montgomery, the film actor, today placed himself fully behind the nation's preparedness drive.

"We must be ready to defend ourselves," he declared. "The rapidity with which the French defenses were smashed, the appalling effect of the German attack, the terrible carnage resulting from the French inability to cope with mechanized warfare, should be a grim lesson to us.

"I spent 17 days at the front. I saw the full impact of the German drive. I am not predicting anything, but I know that we Americans owe it to the brave men who founded this nation just as we owe it to our children and our children's children to be ready for whatever may come."

FIND DUCKS WALK ON BACKS OF FISH

HARRISBURG.—That ducks do walk on the backs of fish at Pymatuning, Pennsylvania's largest artificial lake, is proven in a motion picture news reel now being shown in numerous theatres. The State Department of Commerce has previously called attention to this oddity which stirred skeptics to doubt.

Both ducks and fish are attracted to food thrown into the water by tourists at the Crawford county lake. Arriving at the same time by two different methods of navigation the result is: ducks walking on the backs of fish.

STUMP OF GIANT REDWOOD USED AS DANCE PAVILION

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—One stump of a giant sequia redwood, felled in 1853 in Calaveras County, has been used as a dance pavilion and the site of a cabin, a bar, bowling alley and once for the office of a newspaper, the "Big Tree Bulletin."

The Sequoia (Gigantea) has a life span of 4,000 years and is found only on the western slopes of the Sierra Nevada range between elevations of 4,500 and 5,000 feet.

Within a 250 mile strip, from Placer County on the north to Tulare County on the south, the huge trees occur in approximately 76 groves—23 of them being found in the Sequoia National park.

England Is Ready For Nazi Invasion

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 3.—Britain hopes to beat the anticipated Nazi invasion at sea, but if not then England's forces will tackle the invaders as they land, Parliamentary Undersecretary of the War Office Croft today told the House of Lords.

What's more, Croft stated, "all our forces are on their toes, anxious to get at the enemy."

Replying to debate on the question of the expected invasion of Britain, Croft declared:

"Our intention and our hopes are to defeat the invasion at sea, even before the enemy embarks on his ships, but if not then it is intended to do so in the process of the enemy's landing.

"The enemy is utterly regardless of losses and we must expect him to press every attack home.

"Let us make no mistake. He seeks not a demonstration against our people, but destruction of our people.

"All our forces are on their toes, anxious to get at the enemy.

"We believe no German will pass our defenses except over the bodies of our garrisons."

Max Baer Wins Technical 'Kayo'

Slashed And Battered Galento Fails To Come Out For Eighth

WINNER TO BATTLE LOUIS IN SEPTEMBER

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 3.—The most lavish kindness that might be bestowed upon the public today would be permanent disbarment of Tony Galento from further pugilistic strife, the grounds that he failed to get into condition for a fight, then tried to win it anyhow by reverting to his bar room brawling form, and finally quit cold. In fact, he outquit the most polished and able of all undependables last night when he failed to come out for the eighth round against Max Baer at Jersey City.

Having been slashed and battered through most of the previous rounds and nearly knocked dead in the seventh by the vengeful former heavyweight champion in this purported grudge fight, Galento was not without some justification in keeping to the shelter of his corner. However, he has virtually claimed a copyright on courage since he made his comeback from a never-was to a has-been, and he has made a latter day career of the flaming fortitude that allegedly wells beneath the hairy pelt of his bosom.

But there has been a mistake. What actually has carried Galento along through the last two years was the skullduggery, the prodding, the cajolery and the faith built up within him by the late Joe Jacobs, who managed him and who took Galento the fighter with him when he died, as many suspected he might.

This was a new Galento we saw last night—and a worse one in every respect. Or perhaps it was the Galento of old, the one who lost more than two score fights before Jacobs instituted the renaissance. In any case he heard the boos of more than 20,000, mostly fellow-Jerseyites, roll through Roosevelt Stadium twice last night.

Flagrant Fouls

He got it once when announcement was made that Referee Joe Mangold had taken a round away from him for butting. As a matter of fact, they could have penalized him the fight in nearly every round for such flagrant fouling as few men would attempt.

And he got it again at the finish, as he sat hunched in his corner, blood-smeared and blinking his black little eyes out of the puffs of bloat and scar tissue, while Baer stalked about the ring acting extremely indignant and shouting:

"To hell with stopping it—let's go on and fight."

Galento's seconds instituted the technical knockout against him due to a severe cut inside and outside of his lower lip down toward his chin, superinduced possibly by his brother's accuracy in their boyish family quarrel with bar room crockery Sunday night. Galento also suffered an injured knuckle.

But the point is, when his towel-wavers interceded he made no protest and quite plainly had enough. He had no Joe Jacobs to goad him on this time, and he didn't have it within himself to hew to Jacobs' old exhortation in times of stress—keep punching. Thus he succumbed in his corner, although he had not been beaten as badly as some of his opponents, notably his last previous one, Lou Nova, who was brutally fouled repeatedly even after he was helpless but was still on his feet at the finish.

Weighing 244½ pounds, a new

Skating At The Arena Tonight

Prize night Tomorrow, July 4th matinee 2-5 p. m. Here's your perfect sport! No matter whether it rains or not, it is ideal for fun, here—all times.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

If Jack Dempsey is in pursuit of the "oldest in active service" title he has yet nine years to go before he equals the record of Bob Fitzsimmons, who like Jack was a heavyweight champion. Dempsey is now 45. Fitzsimmons did not lay aside the gloves until he was 54 or more years of age. When 54 he fought Dan Sweeney of this city in a battle at Williamsport and won the joust. Dempsey's return to the ring, even though it was against a wrestler-boxer, whom Jack stopped in two heats, brings forth some interesting statistics. Bob Fitzsimmons won the heavyweight championship at the age of 35 from Jim Corbett. Fitz' was born in 1862. Jim Jeffries came along and in his 11th fight knocked out Ruby Bob. In 1902, Fitz got a second chance and was again knocked out. Jeffries retired in 1906 and Tommy Burns claimed the title. Jack Johnson, born in 1878, beat Burns and Jeffries was coaxed from retirement. A shadow of himself he was decrowned by Johnson in 1910 when Lil' Artha reached the age of 32, or three years younger than both Fitzsimmons and Jeffries. Willard first saw the light of day in 1883 and at the age of 32 in 1915, he captured the championship from Johnson. At the age of 36 he failed to withstand the savage onslaught of Jack Dempsey and lost his title. Gene Tunney with a great record won in the A. E. F. tourney near Paris returned here to win the light-heavyweight title, drop it, caputre it a second time, then engage Dempsey in a heavyweight title match in 1926, which Gene won at the age of 28. Tunney retired undefeated after giving Jack a second chance in 1927. Tunney won. Johnny Kilbane, featherweight, is believed to have the title for that division longest of any of the fighters. He won the crown from Abe Attel at the age of 23 in 1912, and 11 years later was defeated by Eugene Criqui.

They're off again at Thistledown and the running meet will last 40 days. . . . Old Furnace and Pittsburgh North Hills will play polo Thursday and Sunday at the former's ground along the Zelienople-Ellwood City road, Route 288. Both games will begin at 3:30 p. m., d. s. t. . . . Peter Astra will highlight the harness meet at Canfield Thursday night. The Hambletonian winner will be an entry in the free-for-all trot. . . . Having defeated Tony Galento by a TKO in the eighth round when Galento failed to come out for that session, Max Baer will look forward to a second meeting with Joe Louis in New York.

Sammy Angott, who fought here and owner of the NBA title, will box in Pittsburgh August 1. . . . Jack Dempsey will fight a wrestling-boxer-policeman, Bill Curry, of Hartford, in Detroit July 15. . . . Dudie won the fifth race, a six furlong test for $5,000 platers at Empire track. . . . Patty Berg, Minneapolis lass, will turn professional golfer for a reported annual salary of $7,500.

Tigers-Dodgers League Leaders

By ED KIELY
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 3.—The lead in both major leagues was changing hands these days more often than the deal in a fast pinochle game. Today the Brooklyn Dodgers held the balance of power in the senior circuit and the Detroit Tigers sat at the top of the American merry-go-round.

Both clubs were leading by the slim margin of a few percentage points.

Those Pesky Browns

Ironically, it was the St. Louis entries — the Cardinals and the Browns—that threw the wrench into the workings of the previous leaders ,the Cincinnati Reds in the National League and the Cleveland Indians in the junior circuit.

The Cards whitewashed the Reds, 4 to 0, before 14,944 fans in St. Louis last night. Manager Bill McKechnie sent his ace, Paul Derringer, out to protect his team's slim lead, but the Red Birds knocked big Paul around for 14 hits, while Fiddler Bill McGee was limited the Reds to seven scattered safeties and nine horse-collars.

Cubs Wallop Pirates

Meantime, Tex (No-Hit) Carleton pitched a three-hitter as the Dodgers spanked the Philadelphia Phillies, 4 to 1, to take a five-point grip on first place.

Elsewhere in the National, the Boston Bees surprised the New York Giants by nabbing a 5 to 3 win and the Chicago Cubs shellacked the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10 to 0, behind Big Bill Lee's five-hit chucking.

Almost single-handedly, Pitcher Vernon Kennedy of the Browns knocked the Indians from the top-rung in the race. His homer in the ninth with a mate on base broke up a 3-3 deadlock and gave the surprising St. Louis team a 5 to 3 win. The tall righthander allowed 13 hits but was effective in the pinches.

Kress Hits Homer

A homer by Red Kress enabled the Tigers to eke out a 10 to 9 decision over the Chicago White Sox. Detroit held the important first post, as Independence Day neared, by six percentage points.

Lefty Gomez, making his first appearance since opening day, April 19, pitched for seven innings and received credit for the New York Yankees, 6 to 2, victory over the Washington Senators. Philadelphia and Boston halved a doubleheader, the A's capturing the opener, 4 to 3 and the Red Sox the afterpiece, 15 to 9.

WEST PITTSBURG AWAITING INDIES

First-Half Championship In City League Hinges On Game Thursday At West Pittsburg

The championship of the first-half of the City Baseball League may be decided Thursday (Fourth of July) at the West Pittsburg Field, when the rampaging Lawrence Indies tangle with the "Gas House" team of West Pittsburg. The game will start at 2 o'clock. In the event of good weather the largest crowd of the year will no doubt pack the popular West Pittsburg field.

Manager Danny DeGenova announced today that he has three pitchers ready and rarin' to get at these Indies — Paul McCullough, Lefty Tonsetic and Frank Braky. West Pittsburg needs this game to stay in the race. A Lawrence Indies win Thursday will put them in the first-half title bracket, the only barrier then will be the Croton team.

West Pittsburg Ready

The Indies according to Manager George "Hoss" Zidow will use either Savage or Majocha on the hill tomorrow, both men having been effective in other games with the Gas Housers." Ralph "Blackie" Fundoots, captain of the West Pittsburg team says that "We are going to show those Indies boys a few things about baseball tomorrow, we look for a fast game and West Pittsburg is ready for its best game of the year.

All of the community of West Pittsburg is upset today by this impending game. They take their baseball serious in West Pittsburg and tomorrow they will give Manager DeGenova and his men their fullest support.

Fight Oozes Out Of Galento

Both of the fighters looking tired and battered, two-ton Tony Galento is shown, above, grasping Max Baer in the seventh round of their heavyweight scrap in Jersey City, N. J., which was held to determine Heavyweight Joe Louis' next opponent. The New Jersey barkeep was unable to come out of his corner when the bell rang for the start of the eighth round, and Baer was declared the winner by a technical knockout.

Sports World Ramblings

Touring the sports circuits—In selecting Joe Hartman as head coach, Franklin (Pa.) High made a wise selection. Throughout Pennsylvania scholastic circles, the former New Castle High star ranks among the most competent tutors. A gridiron mentor for the past 15 years, Hartman knows all the ins and outs of the game. . . .

Hartman, who is 38, was graduated from Grove City in 1925. He was named as Grove City High coach that same year. Considering all things, Hartman's team performed exceedingly well on the athletic field. During his 15-year stay at Grove City, Hartman's aggregations won 70 games, lost 50 and were involved in 10 ties. The ex-football, basketball and baseball star tips the beams at 200 pounds, is married and has one child. New Castle's sports fraternity extends best wishes to the likeable Hartman. . . .

Latest statistics show that the New York Yankees are firmly stationed in the A. L. cellar, so far as team batting is concerned. . . . Our Bucs continue to lead both leagues in errors. . . . Despite the fact that they clubbed him out of the box last week, the Yankees have yet to score a victory over "Chubby" Dean, Philadelphia Athletic portsider. . . .

The annual all-star game, originally designed to give the fans an active hand in the game at least once a year, should be re-named. It could be appropriately monickered the annual battle of favored big leaguers. On the basis of selections made, a players' showing doesn't mean a thing. The rosters picked are surely not the cream of both circuits. . . .

To point a few cases, look at Bill Dickey. A great performer in past seasons. This year, a floperoo. Still, he gets a post on the team. Dixie Walker of the Dodgers, on the other hand, is clubbing at a .347 clip and fielding above par. What happens? His name is overlooked. Elbie Fletcher, Pirate swatsmith, is another N. L. star, who has been ignored while Arky Vaughan, a star in past seasons and one of the disappointments of the current season, is honored. . . .

Rip Radcliff, A. L. batting leader with a juicy .367 mark, and Barney McCoskey, Detroit spark plug, aren't good enough. Neither is Bobby Doerr, Red Sox infielder, only to name a few. If that's the best proper authorities can do, we say give it back to the fans or can the whole thing. The coming game, July 9 in St. Louis, will be a battle among the favorites of the game and not the most talented and most deserving. Some of the selections, however, are legitimate. Fellows like, Greenberg, Foxx, F. McCormick, Danning, Bobby Feller, Walters, Derringer, Boudreau, DiMaggio and a few others are good enough to be on any all-star lineup any day in the week. . . .

record even for him, Galento never looked quite so sorry as he did last night against the rejuvenated California madcap, who went in at 221½ and mived in enough serious effort with his ham acting to hold the first round, even and win the remaining six in a row.

Galento 'Dazed, Hurt

He bearded Tarzan right in his own den, right among his friends and nearest of kin in the Jersey meadows, and looked better than he has at any time in the last couple of years, but let's not get excited, for it is doubtful that Galento could have gone 15 rounds with anybody that would elude his left hook and fight back as Baer did. He really fought this time.

He made Galento miss by as much as a yard and pumped away with both hands to keep in front all the time, despite the thumbing, backhanding and butting he received. And he returned some of the same himself to help make an alley fight of it, and to dress Galento up for the seventh round finishing flurry.

In this last round of the scheduled 15, Galento was dazed and hurt and went to his knees once, partly from a slip but assisted by a brisk right to his chin, and as far as he was concerned 'the nonsense was over for the evening when the bell sounded to end Baer's attack and strong bid for a clean knockout.

All of which earned Baer a September encore with heavyweight champion Joe Louis, who scored a four-round knockout in their previous meeting, and we don't think he need to worry any this time even if Baer shows up for the fight.

Under 100,000

Jersey City, N. J., July 3.—The Pier 6 brawl between two Ton Tarzan Galento and Max Maer last night attracted 22,711 spectators and a $98,004 gate, the official figures today showed.

Ten percent of the gross receipts were turned over to the St. Joseph's home for the blind in Jersey City.

Galento's entire share, 27½ per cent, was attached by Caswell Jacobs, the brother of the late Joe Jacobs, Galento's former manager. Caswell will demand a share of the purse for the estate of his brother under whose management Galento originally signed up for the carnage.

Indies Go Step Nearer To Flag

Those rampaging Indies went a step nearer the first half championship in the City baseball league last night by winning 6 to 2 over the Moose Club before a big crowd at Lehigh field. This was a postponed league battle. Russu had the better of Hall in a mound struggle.

The Indies went to work on Hall in the first-inning with a three run attack. The Moose could not hit Russu effectively. Byak featured the game by slamming out a long homer. Other extra-base hitters were Rainey, M. Baker, Guinaugh and Muse.

The game was halted in the last of the sixth by darkness.

Wabash Bears Seeking Field

The Wabash Bears of Mahoningtown, the only semi pro football team in the City of New Castle, would like very much to secure a suitable field for their home games this coming fall.

Willie Domenick, president of the Bears has looked at several sites recently but as yet nothing definitely has been decided. The Bears have their eyes on the fine Ashland avenue field, and may land it if several matters can be ironed out. The Bears are desirous of fixing up a fine field as they have lined up a galaxy of strong semi-pro teams for this fall. Anybody having a piece of property large enough for a football field, communicate with Willie Domenick at 4789-R.

PLAN GOLF PARTY

Universal Sanitary & Manufacturing company employes will have their first annual golf tournament, followed by dinner, at the New Castle Field club Saturday, July 13, starting at 9:30 a. m.

Following the tournament, which is open to all employes of the plant, there will be a dinner in the dining room of the clubhouse at 1:30 o'clock when George Lamoree will preside as toastmaster. The principal speaker will be W. Kieth McAfee, president of the company.

Several fine prizes have been secured for the tournament, and as a natural rivalry exists among the players, some hot golf is expected to be played.

Geno Veri is general chairman for the event. Frank Mogey is in charge of the golf arrangements, and Clyde Whittaker and Ray Carothers, club house arrangements.

It is expected to make this an annual affair and a large number of the plant employes will participate.

SYLVAN HEIGHTS LEAGUE

Shenango Pottery practically clinched first half honors in the Sylvan Heights league over the city's beautiful layout last evening, when they defeated Duca D'Abruzzi by a 5 to 1 count, while Herge's, who had been holding down second place, were losing to Saegertowns. New Castle Moose, with a 3½ to 2½ victory over Scarazzos, slipped into second place.

There were only a handful of the boys under the 40 mark last evening, Louis Malls being medalist with a 37 score, one over par, while Ted Lach and Toby Fenati had 38's and Geno Veri, Mike Lombardo, Chuck Perrotta and J. Kardish registered 39's.

The results of play were as follows: Shelby Social 4½, Ellwood City Saxons 1½; Unions 3, Universal Sanitary & Manufacturing Co. 3; New Castle Moose 3½, Scarazzos 2½; Shenango Pottery 5, Duca D'Abruzzi 1; Saegertown G. A. 4, Herge's 2; Ellwood City Moose 3½, Fentons 2½.

The last matches in the first half round will be played on Friday evening, and with Shenango Pottery leading by 5½ points, they are practically certain of copping first half honors. It would be necessary for the New Castle Moose to win all their matches, while the Pottery was halving but one, to tie the leaders.

The standing is as follows: Shenango Pottery 43, New Castle Moose 38½, Herge 36½, Shelby Social 36½, Scarazzos 33, Saegertown G. A. 32½, Universal Sanitary & Manufacturing Co. 28, Ellwood City Saxons 23½, Ellwood City Moose 23½, Unions 22, Duca D'Abruzzi 21½, Fentons 21½.

From now until the middle of August the teams will play twice weekly, so that the schedule can be completed before darkness puts an end to evening golf.

Occasionally, even yet, a Berlin paper prints something so true and reasonable it seems a traitor to the cause.

Joint Picnic To Be Held Thursday

Gospel Tabernacle And Hoover Heights Church To Have Picnic At Fair Grounds

Thursday the joint church and Sunday school picnics of the Gospel Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street, and the Hoover Heights Gospel Tabernacle, South New Castle Boro, will be held at the New Castle Fair Grounds on the Harlansburg road.

Each year, these churches have held separate annual picnics but it was decided to consolidate this year. A full program of sports has been arranged by the committees of both churches with a baseball game being played in the afternoon, the married men playing the single. A ring service has been planned for late in the afternoon where opportunity will be given for testimony followed by pointed gospel messages.

Cars will leave the Pearson street church for those going from there between 9 and 10 in the morning, and for late comers at 2:30 o'clock. The Hoover Heights folks have charterd a bus for their transportation.

However rich the loot, a victorious ermany would quickly learn that people can't prosper without customers.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Within a short time the New Castle Fair will be in swing . . . but we notice that the sign at the fair grounds has not been changed since last year. It might be a good idea to let the public know the exact dates so that they can plan to attend the event, as we hear it will be better than ever.

* * *

A dog without a home has been taken in by Jimmy Travers of 1003 Wilmington avenue . . . If you are interested, call 5486 now . . . it is a small tan dog and would, or has made, a fine pet.

* * *

Tomorrow a great many people will be out on the open road . . . burning gasoline, to the delight of the manufacturers and gas station owners . . . tires will sing and miles will pile up on the mileage meter . . . but some will stay home or within a fair distance of their home and enjoy a quiet day . . . a few will, no doubt, take the old fishing pole and do a little bass fashing in the local waters. They say the fish should bite good on the Fourth . . . just how true these words will prove to be is rather hard to say, but a fine day can be had if the sun shines, even if the fish don't take your bait. But whatever you do, try to be careful . . . the Untied States needs you . . . you are the ones to preserve peace in this world of today . . . keep your health and you have everything.

It's funny how a man will act toward his fellow citizen . . . when a fellow is down to his last dime he will ask a fellow citizen to help him with a bite to eat . . . the citizen comes through . . . when the citizen who helps tries to help others, the first man sometimes becomes rather unreasonable and tries to break up this citizen's gift-giving . . . why are there people like that? After all, a man who has a little cash and wants to spend it should be allowed to spend it his own way.

* * *

God bless America . . . that song keeps running through our mind . . . how long has it been since you have sung it . . . The tune is right and the words say a lot . . . why not dig it up and when the gang gets together . . . sing it until the rafters ring? . .

* * *

It's time to say thirty . . . so until after the Fourth . . . we bid you a pleasant day and the hope that we will all be together Friday!

Market Tone Firmer Today

Market Continues Narrow And Listless Trading, Steels Show Gains

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, July 3.—The stock market continued its narrow and listless trading range today, although leaders developed a firmer tone following a sluggish and mixed opening.

Movement in the steels were typical of most sections. Bethlehem, which slipped three-fourths at one time in the early dealings, converted this into an equal gain by the end of the first hour. U. S. Steel gained as much after easing a fraction in the first few minutes of trading.

Late in the forenoon modest improvement also was shown by most coppers, motors, mail orders, rubbers, rails and utilities. Ship-building shares continued to gain ground on the huge navy order, while B. M. T. and Loft were active features on fractional advances.

There were a few laggards. Lockheed and United Aircraft, together with American Can and Eastman Kodak, each dropped a point before meeting support. General Electric, Air Reduction and some of the rail equipments held behind minus signs.

The inactive Wheeling & Lake Erie jumped 17 points to 66 on its first sale in several weeks.

Germany Issues New "White Book"

Accuses Allies Of Seeking To Extend European War Prior To French Capitulation

(International News Service)

BERLIN, July 3—A new German "White Book" accusing the allies of seeking to extend the European war, prior to the French capitulation was published by the Berlin foreign office today.

The release, entitled "White Book No. 6" contained what were described as French General Staff documents seized from a half-destroyed train at La Charite on the Loire river.

These documents revealed alleged allied plans for air attacks on Baku and Batum in Soviet Russia from Deschearirch or Northern Iraq, adding that Turkey had voiced no objections to such plans.

The documents also contained alleged allied plans for intervention in Finland and Sweden.

According to the white book French Gen. Maurice Gamelin, former commander-in-chief of the allied armies, preferred to drag the Balkans into the war, thereby reinforcing the allied armies with 100 divisions, instead of intervening in Scandinavia and obtaining the aid of only 10 divisions.

According to Gamelin's obesrvations and notes, the German document claimed, the allied plans included a submarine blockade of the Black sea and construction of a navel base in the Asiatic part of the Black sea, land operations in Turkey and possibly in Iraq and also sowing of mines at river mouths.
